

CALL FOR SPEAKERS

2018 NASC ANNUAL CONFERENCE

MAY 1 – 3, 2018 • SCOTTSDALE, AZ

Ready to share your expertise, experience, and acumen with a group of committed animal supplement industry professionals who are eager to apply what they learn?

Don't miss your opportunity to present at the 2018 NASC Annual Conference in Scottsdale, Arizona, May 1–3, 2018, at We-Ko-Pa Resort & Conference Center. Speakers associated with this conference are recognized and highly regarded as industry leaders and subject matter experts.

Benefits of Speaking

- Complimentary admission to the conference, with full access to conference sessions and Preferred Supplier Showcase
- Increased visibility throughout the NASC community of member companies and suppliers
- Opportunity to network with industry peers and like-minded professionals during the event, which often leads to business development
- Association with an outstanding lineup of speakers and industry experts
- Recognition for you and your company as a conference presenter in conference promotions, NASC website, press releases, and other publicity

Speaker proposals are due
Monday, January 15, 2018

The NASC invites speakers to submit proposals for topics relevant to professionals working in all areas of the animal health supplement industry. These topics may include, but are not limited to, leadership, management, business operations, marketing, product development, technology, and innovation.

For submissions to be considered, they should include clearly identified target audience and learning objectives, and should outline how the presenter will incorporate real-world scenarios and value-added content such as white papers, case studies, relevant articles, etc. into the presentation.

To submit your proposal to present at the 2018 NASC Annual Conference, follow the button below.

ONLINE APPLICATION